

Intergenerational Recreation

Scope Recent efforts have been made to create more intergenerational programs in N Reading and with very good results. Example: book reading at the Middle School, outreach of home services by the HS Outreach Club, and Parks and Rec including some Senior activities now listed in their typically child-centric brochure.

Specific Objectives

- Create a cross-discipline team to cultivate and create intergenerational programs for the benefit of all residents of NR, regardless of age. Volunteerism from all ages of people will be core to this effort.
- Create a common physical environment where the team may best coordinate services and activities. This is highest priority.
- Recreation will include organizing on- and off-site physical health & wellness programs.

Challenges

- A Community Center may take years to build. Begin the process of creating a cross discipline team now for better coordination now.
- Parks and Rec lost a facility when the NRHS and NRMS combined facilities. This is the highest priority to allow Parks and Rec to expand
